COMPANY L WITH FULL RANKS, AWAITS CALL TO SERVICE
 Under Strict Military Orders—Recruits Keep Coming—Summons May Be Received Today.

When the fire alarm sounded Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock every man in Company L, First Infantry, C. N. G., was at the state armory on Pleasant street ready for orders. The company was formed on the floor of the drill shed and the roll called. Captain Tiesing stated that no orders had been received up to that time and said that the company was under strict military orders and would remain at the armory until orders were received. The company was then dismissed with orders to remain in the vicinity of the armory and to hold themselves in readiness.

When the fire alarm sounded a good part of Willimantic's population gathered in the streets, and around the station and crossed the river to the armory. A large number from the militia went over to the armory expecting that the boys were to go out on Tuesday morning.

A number of young men from this city and vicinity have enlisted in the company and they keep coming. The room used by the Veteran Association of the National Guard is being used as a recruiting station for the company. The recruiting officer is Captain Philip Cheney, a former captain of Company G, First Infantry. Dr. C. E. Simmonds of this city, who is a Lieutenant in the Medical Corps in the examining officer. Both officers will be at the armory for the next few days.

About noon, Captain Tiesing received word from headquarters in Hartford that his command would not be called on to move at least before today. When this notice was received the company was divided into the regulation squads commanded by non-commissioned officers and drilled in close order on order on Pleasant street, between the footbridge and Bridge street. The American band was on hand to escort the boys if they were called to move; but when it became known that they were not to go Tuesday, the musicians returned to their homes or work.

The company marched to a local restaurant at 2:30 in the afternoon and had dinner.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully if you want to keep your hair looking like the best. Most soaps dry, and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins the scalp.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary milled coconut oil (which is pure and greenless), and is better than the most expensive and prepared shampoos. It cleanses the scalp, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get milled coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.
